90% of drivers apply brakes too hesitantly. Or too late. Fortunately for them, Mercedes has developed Brake Assist. It's a revolutionary electronic braking system which recognises an emergency and reacts faster than even the most experienced motorist. In fact, it shrinks stopping distances by a staggering 45%.

The system senses when the brakes have been hit harder than normal but not quickly enough. It will automatically apply the full pressure necessary to make an emergency stop.

Yet you're always in control. Release the pedal and you release Brake Assist.

So, should the unexpected be lurking around the corner, Brake Assist will stop your Mercedes safely and immediately.

Without you even having to think twice.
